

Prof. Dr. Gabriele Schellberg

Professur für Musikpädagogik

Einladung zum Gastvortrag von Prof. Dr. Gary McPherson

Ormond Chair of Music and Director
Melbourne Conservatorium of Music
The University of Melbourne

Thema:

“Motivated music learner: Implications of research for music teaching and learning”

Datum: Mittwoch, 5. Juli 2017

Zeit: 10¹⁵ h

Ort: Raum 111 NK

Biographie

Gary McPherson is the Ormond Professor of Music and Director of the Melbourne Conservatorium of Music in Australia. He has served as the National President of the Australian and International Societies for Music Education and presented in over 23 countries around the world. He has published a number of books for Oxford University Press including co editing the Oxford Handbook of Music Education (2016), and editing the Child as Musician: A Handbook of Musical Development (2016), Musical Prodigies: Interpretations from Psychology, Education, Musicology and Ethnomusicology (2016) and Music in Our Lives: Rethinking Musical Ability, Development and Identity (2012). He has also published well over 150 publications in music education and performance science.